CIRCULAR.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT C. S. A.

SEPTEMBER 26th, 1864.

Some of the Depositories having stated that they are without specific instructions from the Department in regard to the "4 per cent. Call Certificates on Bonds hypothecated," and of the 6 per cent. non-taxable Bonds, it is deemed proper to advise by circular, that the minimum certificate intended to be given for new issue Treasury notes received on call is five hundred dollars and the larger ones, multiples of five hundred. For the accommodation of holders of old issues who wish to deposit them for 4 per cent. Call Certificates, payable after ninety days, certificates of one hundred dollars each have been prepared, to be used when the sum deposited is below \$500, or between \$500 and \$1,000, or greater sums requiring odd hundreds, but all fractional parts of \$100 are to be exchanged at 66 $\frac{2}{3}$ cents to the dollar and new issue given.

In all sales of the 6 per cent. non-taxable Bonds (i. e. the 500-Million Loan) the accrued Interest must be charged, and on making the entries for all such sales, and of the proceeds of such sales paid into the Depository by an agent authorized to sell the bonds, it must be stated on the books and in the weekly returns to the Treasurer, how much is for Principal, how much for Premium, and how much for Interest.

The Depositories will insist upon the agents furnishing them with such specific statements, when they make their deposits.

Agents authorized to sell Bonds on commission, should deduct the commission to which they are entitled from the premium received, and furnish to the Depository at the time of making deposit, a memorandum stating
